FOREWORD

Nineteen eighty-eight marks the 50th Anniversary of the publication of this directory. The individuals listed in the pages of the American Correctional Association's directories through the years undoubtedly have had many tales to tell.

The corrections profession has existed under close scrutiny for decades; this scrutiny has been more intensive perhaps than for any other federal, state, or local government agency.

Through the years, attitudes toward institutions have followed the pendulum of public opinion. Institutions have been considered too good an environment for evil perpetrators of crime; they have also been called the most abominable crime control mechanism available. But in the United States, institutions were conceived out of idealistic intentions: The good men of Philadelphia who in 1789 pleaded for the development of a penitentiary saw the institution as a replacement for the horror of public flogging, capital punishment, and the degrading and squalid conditions of jails.

Corrections has always had difficulty keeping pace with the community norms of the prevailing age. In the 1980s the basic criticisms of the profession are the same as they were in the 1780s and 1880s. Things haven't changed much.

In a sense, this directory can talk. The changes in corrections as exhibited through these pages tell a story of enormous growth and the continued facility crowding that came with that growth. The directory gives the average daily populations for the institutions listed. We can look back in the previous 49 directories and capture the same information and realize that crowded facilities have always been with us, except during times of war.

And so it goes. Corrections cannot keep up with social policy and trends in criminal justice; according to history it never has. Corrections professionals, however, continue to make the best of intolerable conditions. We can only hope that someday, maybe, the men and women of the United States will see the situation for what it is and allow corrections to be what it should be.

Corrections' volatility and political influences, especially following an election year, make it impossible for the directory to be up to date at the time of publication. However, we make every effort to keep a current directory in the research department; please do not hesitate to contact the editor if you need information. We welcome any comments you might have for improving any aspect of this directory.

The Association appreciates the efforts of the participating corrections officials and staff who provide the information necessary for this publication. Their generous spirit of cooperation and professional concern make possible the publication of this important directory each year.

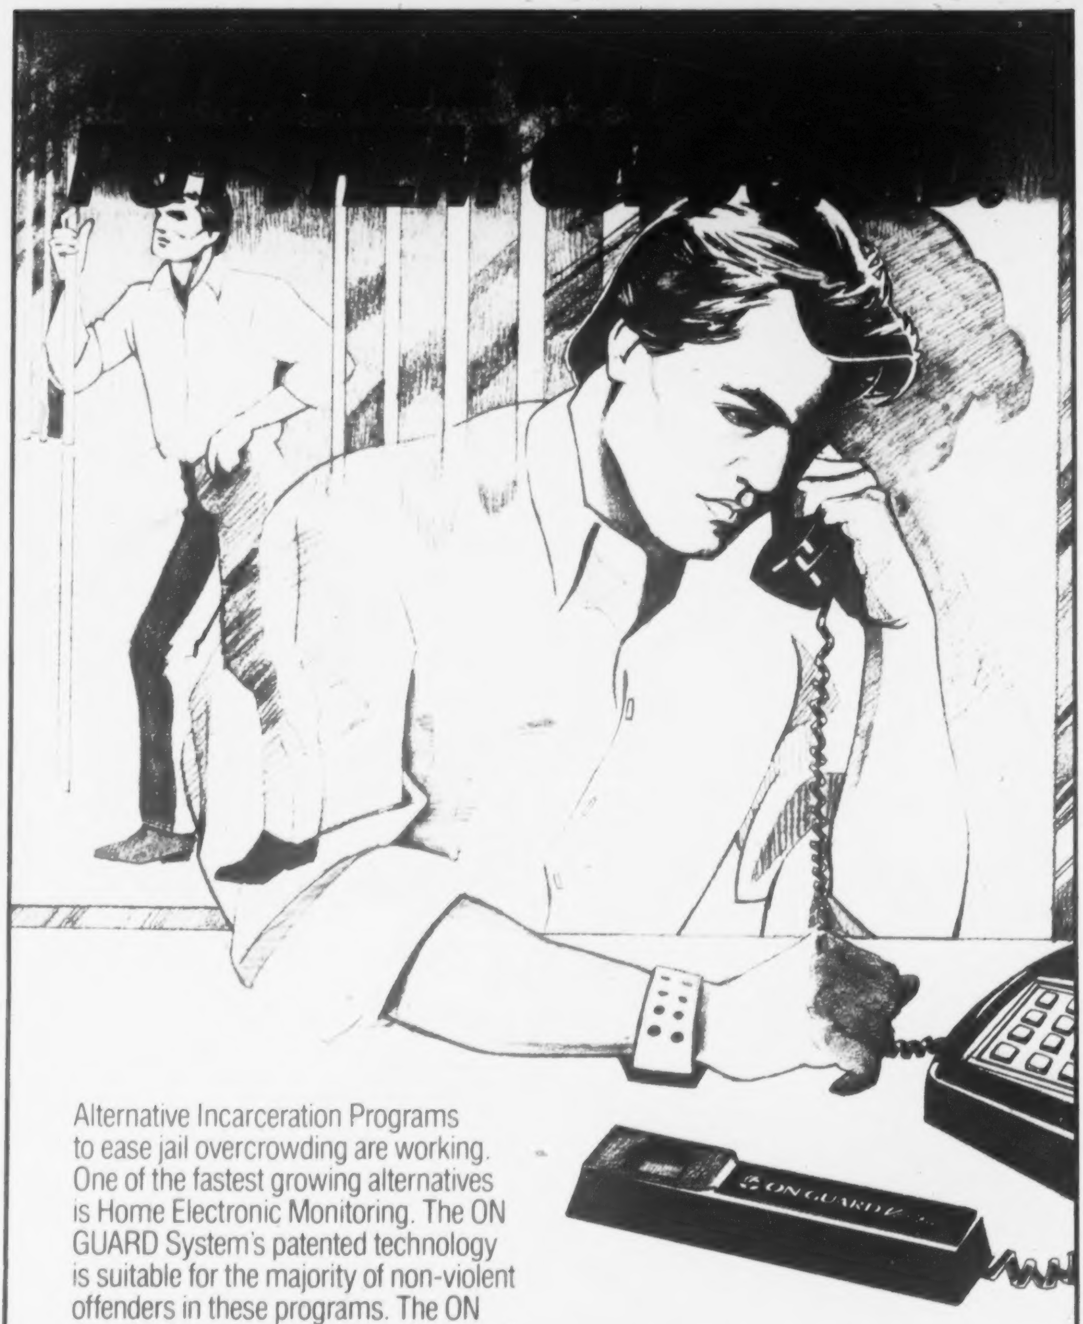
MEETINGS SCHEDULE

The American Correctional Association's annual Congress of Correction and Winter Conference have become two widely attended and vitally important events in corrections. These international meetings provide the opportunity for corrections professionals to face, head-on, the rapidly changing, complex issues of the field.

Stimulating workshops, training sessions, affiliate and delegate assembly meetings, and social functions are all part of the enriching atmosphere provided at an ACA convention and appeal to ACA members and nonmembers alike. Each meeting features nationally known keynote speakers and experts from all sectors of corrections who share their knowledge, skills, and expertise in the wide range of workshops offered.

To further enhance the total convention experience, local correctional facility tours in the "host state" are available as well as an exhibit show, which also aids in correctional problem-solving through the display of innovative products, services, and technology. Literally thousands of participants combine efforts to aid in creating and influencing national correctional policy and to promote professional development in all aspects of corrections.

Upcoming ACA meetings include the 118th Congress of Correction at Denver, Colorado, August 14-18, 1988; the 1989 Winter Conference at San Antonio, Texas, January 16-19, 1989; and the 119th Congress of Correction at Baltimore, Maryland, August 13-17, 1989. Be a part of planning corrections' destiny by participating in an ACA conference. For further information contact Marge L. Restivo, Director, Conventions, Advertising, and Corporate Relations, at (301) 699-7600.



Alternative Incarceration Programs to ease jail overcrowding are working. One of the fastest growing alternatives is Home Electronic Monitoring. The ON GUARD System's patented technology is suitable for the majority of non-violent offenders in these programs. The ON GUARD System is the most widely used Electronic Monitoring System, now used by more than 40 agencies in 20 states. It is the simplest to use, most reliable and least expensive.

Use this system free for 30 days with no obligation. For more information call 1-800-327-9476.

"...we got what we wanted, on time and within budget."

"We were given the go-ahead on a significant correctional facility construction project.

"Of course the approval was given with a couple of conditions attached. One, we get the facility on line within a year. And two, we bring it in at budget.

"We knew who would bear the responsibility if those two conditions weren't met. We would.

"So we brought in Kitchell CEM.

"Kitchell's project planning and construction management enabled us to meet every deadline. And, by the way, they undercut the budget.

"And that made us look pretty good."

THE PREMIER PLATE

...and why you should buy it.

Take a good look at our cast iron Olympic plate. You won't find any better. Because no other manufacturer takes the steps we do to make sure this plate is the best that can be made.

Cast iron is cast iron? Not when you use cores in the holes for better tolerances. Not when you mill a plate to exact weight, or scrap it. Not when you cast every plate in your own foundry—we're the only company that does—because you want better control of your quality and to maintain a production schedule that can keep your delivery promises.

In fact, our production standards are so high, there's no difference between the plates used in international competition, and the ones in your gym.

A little extreme? Not when our name's on each plate. As long as it says YORK, it's going to be the best you can buy.

Notes:

1. AR—Act 774 of 1983 changed method to lethal injection, with clause allowing those already under death penalty the option of electrocution.
2. MT—Individual has choice of manner of death.
3. NH—Legislature passed and signed by governor making lethal injection the manner of execution, effective 1/1/87.
4. NY—On July 1, 1984, the Court of Appeals found the New York State death sentence unconstitutional. The only sentenced prisoner on death row was then removed from the condemned unit.
5. OH—Legislation is pending which would change method of execution to lethal injection.
6. PA—As of Nov., 1982, sentenced prisoners were taken out of general population and put into Administrative Maximum Custody.
7. FBP—Manner of execution is in accordance with laws of State in which Federal sentence is imposed. The sole offense for which capital punishment is available is Aircraft Piracy, 49 U.S.C. 1472 (i). S. 1765 would amend Federal criminal laws to provide procedures to utilize the death penalty for other offenses, such as homicide, where it is now authorized but cannot be used because of procedural inadequacies. Legislation is supported which proposes the death penalty for those inmates serving life sentences who murder while incarcerated.

Can you tell which packages contain the narcotics?

LINESCAN® can.

Throughout the world the low-cost Linescan System Four spots danger in visitors' reception rooms, lobbies, and mail rooms. This compact System is mobile, with large rubber casters and conveyor ends that fold so it can be rolled easily from one location to another.

Linescan System Four

Visitors can bring in big problems in small packages if you don't really "look inside." Items that might not be detected with the naked eye — syringes, narcotics, weapons — can be discovered easily with a Linescan Conveyerized X-ray Inspection Unit. Danger to security guards and other personnel is sharply reduced, as you can view "inside" details vividly, easily, and quickly. Objects are clearly viewable without distortion, and a zoom option is available for closer inspection of suspect areas.

We have a wide range of security units to select from, including the System Seven which inspects objects up to 40" x 40" x unlimited length. And all Linescan Systems are backed by our worldwide training and service network, so write or phone for information. The more you want to see, the better Linescan looks.

DIRECTORY USER'S GUIDE

Information provided in this directory on state, federal and territorial adult and juvenile correctional systems, and Canadian federal and provincial systems is as of June 30, 1987. The data will assist the user in understanding the total structure of correctional departments in any given jurisdiction.

Statistical summaries preface the listings of adult and juvenile institutions and services. The summaries provide a vital nationwide look at correctional systems, personnel and offender information.

The listings of adult and juvenile services include the following:

- Organizational overview
- Central office administrative staff
- Institutions
  - Staff names and titles
  - Year opened and capacity
  - Average daily population and degree of security
  - Offender type (felon, etc.) and age limits
  - Accreditation status and program availability
  - Cost of care and number of employees
- Community based programs
- Parole Boards (function and members)
- Probation, parole and aftercare services

A special new feature for this 50th Anniversary edition highlights new facilities (since 1980) that were chosen by the departments as exemplary for their state. Explanatory paragraphs describe special building features or unusual construction techniques that proved to be cost saving; successful and unique programs are noted.

Every effort has been made to ensure accuracy and thoroughness; however, the Association cannot assume responsibility for errors or omissions. When updated information was not provided, data from last year's edition was assumed correct and repeated.

Changes or new information to be recorded in future editions of the directory should be forwarded to the Association. Comments or suggestions for improvement are welcome.

EXEMPLARY

West Jefferson Correctional Facility

Built in phases, this self-contained institution utilized pre-engineered buildings for temporary housing during construction of permanent facilities. As permanent buildings were completed, the pre-engineered buildings were converted for recreational, job training and program use. This procedure enabled the Board of Corrections to meet time constraints imposed by the federal court, and yielded considerable savings in construction costs.

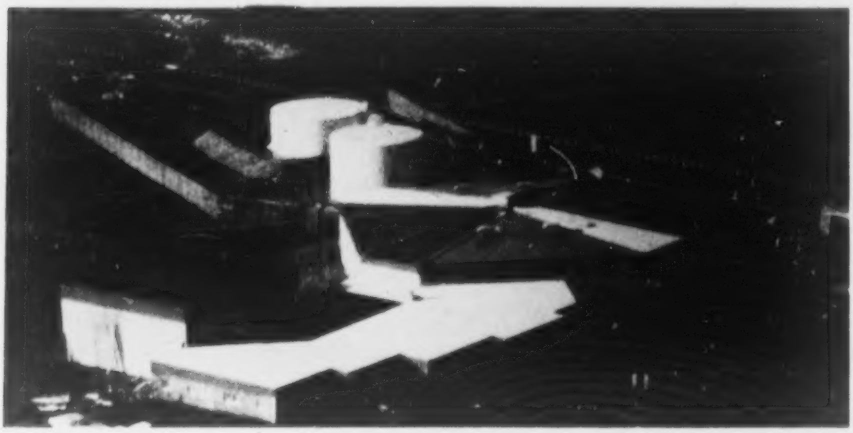
EXEMPLARY



Anvil Mountain Correctional Center

Utilizing the department's prototypical housing unit design, this facility is essentially a two story square divided into four quadrants with a control room in the center.

There are innumerable possible development variations. Each quadrant can be completed as a 16-cell unit with a dayroom area on the first floor for a total of 84 cells. A second floor can be added to a quadrant separating it into two 8-cell units each with dayrooms. Units can be further subdivided if required.

Anvil Mountain, a regional correctional center, serves a variety of custody levels, males and females, sentence and pre-trial inmates. The prototype design facilitates the subdivision of quadrants to separate the different types of prisoners. Dormitory rooms, rather than cells, were used in some areas to maximize space for lower custody inmates. A portion of one quadrant of the Nome facility was constructed as program and support space to have services adjacent to inmate living areas while keeping costs within budget.

The prototype has proven its flexibility for Alaska Department of Corrections. It has been successfully adapted for several small regional jails as well as the large long term high security facility.

Facility cost: $9,100,000

EXEMPLARY

Maximum Security Unit

This institution was designed to house highest security inmates in as humane an environment as possible while optimizing security staff requirements. Each of the four main housing areas, containing 108 individual cells, is divided in half for a secure control area that permits simultaneous observation of two dayroom spaces and all 108 cell fronts.

Overall design maximizes visual observation and contact, negating the use of sophisticated electronic systems for security. Modest materials (masonry and precast concrete planks) and traditional security hardware are blended in a design that has produced a secure and efficient institution.

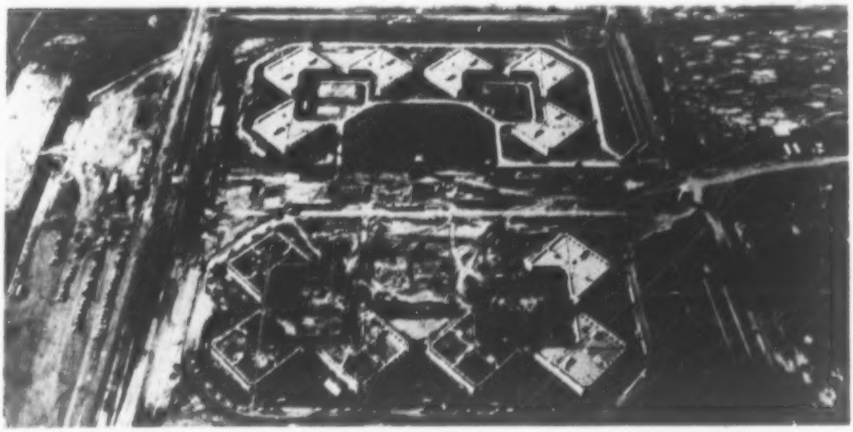
EXEMPLARY



California Medical Facility

The construction of the California Medical Facility-South signified the beginning of the new building program for California corrections. It was the first project to utilize the 270° prototypical housing unit design. It has also become the prototypical example for the multi-phase planning/scheduling and precast concrete construction technologies. With some slight modifications, this basic design will be used in over 140 new prisons including the California State Prisons-Avenel and Amador, and the Richard J. Donovan Correctional Facility currently in operation. Some county jails have also adapted the design for their use.

EXEMPLARY

Designed for highly intensive security control of inmates, the functional unit allows for three 16-man pods, each separated from the others to be monitored simultaneously by the same control room officer. Cells in each pod may be individually controlled, or 16 cells opened simultaneously. In the event of a disturbance or other emergency situation, positive control is maintained due to the limited number of inmates involved. Inmates in the administrative-segregation living units are managed and escorted on an individual basis. The intensive management unit has 16 cells that are self-contained with showers and stools.

Programs, managed in averaged sized groups of 16 offenders, are as follows: computer training and correspondence courses, library services, law library, volunteer services, medical and mental health, drug and alcohol counseling, recreational programs, religious services and counseling, industrial programs, and institutional services including food preparation, janitorial and maintenance, trash removal and clerical assignments.

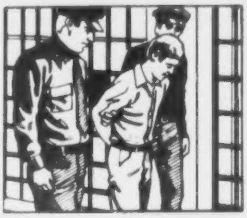
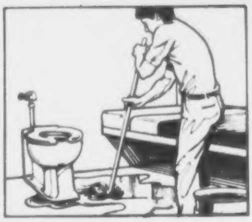
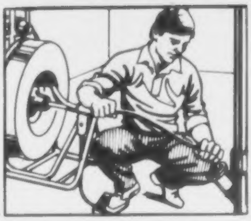
How to avoid a flood of problems.



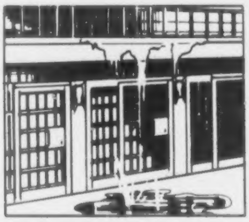
Officers must transfer inmate.



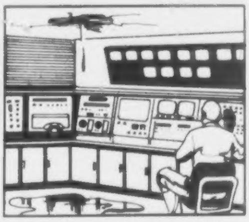
Locate janitor to clean cell block.



Plumbing repairs might be needed.



Lower cell blocks could be damaged.



Adjacent operations possibly affected.

THE FLOODBUSTER™

PNEUMATIC FLUSH DISABLER

New from Bradley

When a single angry inmate blocks his toilet with an object and pushes the flush valve repeatedly, the result is often more than a single inconvenience. This fairly common act of criminal mischief can cause a chain reaction that ends up costing you a great deal of time, labor, and potentially great property damage.

Not only does a flooded toilet mean using prison officers to transfer the inmate to another area and finding a janitor to clean the cell block, it may also cost the services of a plumber to fix damaged pipes and ceiling leaks. And if your institution is multi-story, lower cell blocks could be damaged by water as well. Even worse, if the flooded facility is in an administration building, adjacent operations including computer rooms or courtrooms could also be seriously affected.

No electrical hookup required

Now with Bradley's Floodbuster™ Pneumatic Anti-Flood Flush Disabler*, you never have to worry about toilet flooding — or the hassle of electrical connections. That's because this remarkable system is pneumatically activated by flowing water. The nonelectrical flush valve disabling system features a sensor device that prevents the toilet from being flushed when an overflow condition exists. So major flooding is prevented. Because the flooding sensor is not visible or accessible to inmates, the system is vandal-resistant, too. And it can be serviced easily from the chase.

Specify the Bradley Floodbuster™ Pneumatic Anti-Flood Flush Disabler today. It could save you countless headaches tomorrow.

For more information on the Floodbuster™ Pneumatic Anti-Flood Flush Disabler, contact your Bradley representative today. Or call or write: Bradley Corporation, 9101 Fountain Blvd., Menomonee Falls, WI 53051, 1 414 251-6000.

EXEMPLARY

Analyzing the advantages of alternative building methods and in an effort to make the most from funds allocated by the legislature, corrections officials decided to pursue the fastest and most economical option for construction. Based on a study that considered cost factors and lack of masons in the rural area, precast concrete cells were chosen for the construction method.

The precast plant in Tampa would have to produce 336 units and ship the cells 165 miles to the remote prison site. The new prison buildings had to be high security facilities with steel sliding doors and solid concrete cell fronts. The modular cells were designed for single occupancy, containing 63 square feet of interior space. Each cell module weighed 10.5 tons. Modular units were stacked two stories high, and each 168-cell building consists of three radial wings connected to a central core area.

Since this project was completed within the perimeter of an existing institution, a number of support services are drawn from the other buildings. Hence, construction costs do not include security perimeter, kitchen, industries, administration, hospital, and other buildings already at the site.

The objective of rapid completion had been achieved, as inmates occupied the new facility only 8 months after groundbreaking.

Facility cost: $6,580,000

BI's Home Escort™ System... Instant Tamper-Alert.

Electronically-monitored house arrest that's the most tamper-resistant, reliable, and accurate available.

Making BI's Home Escort System part of your corrections system can alleviate the following problems: Dangerous overcrowding; escalating costs that threaten your budget; shortages of trained officers caused by the need to supervise probationers and parolees. And it keeps minor offenders at home, away from hardened criminals.

A police officer, a criminal court judge, and over $1 million in high-tech research and development make Home Escort the best available today. Compare the features:

Tamper-Resistant
Any attempt to open the case or to remove or cut the band is signalled instantly to the host computer.

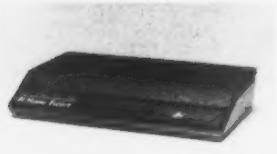
Can't Be Outsmarted
Signals at random, completely silent to the wearer so the system can't be outguessed or outsmarted.

Reliable, Reusable
There's a 100% testing of units before shipping. Transmitters have replaceable batteries and straps.

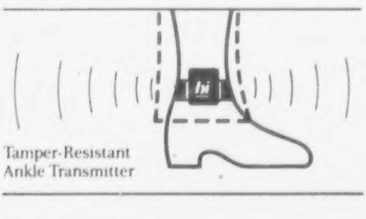
Tough, Trouble-Free
Moisture-proof, shock, and impact-resistant. Functions in a wide range of temperatures.

Active System, Wearer-Passive
No late night calls to make or receive so there's no harassment and family privacy is protected.

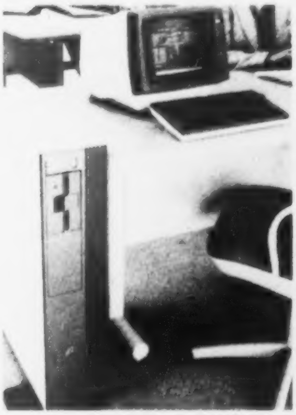
Concealable, Wearer-Friendly
Worn under the sock, under the trouser; doesn't hamper any kind of work, exercise, or sport. Hypoallergenic, lightweight.



Home Escort works on existing rotary dial or touch-tone telephone lines. Tamper-resistant.



Tamper-Resistant
Ankle Transmitter



System can go into operation within a week of delivery. Handles up to 200 clients.

Easy to Acquire

By purchase, lease, lease/purchase, or by contract through independent service providers. Cost can also be made entirely or partially self-liquidating, depending on what your jurisdiction allows.

JUVENILE PROBATION AND AFTERCARE SERVICES

Florida's 67 counties are divided into 11 districts. A district administrator administers all programs within a district. Programs for delinquent and dependent children, including the delinquency community control (probation) and furlough (aftercare) program, and delinquency intake are administered under a Children, Youth and Families (CYF) organizational structure. Unit offices are strategically located throughout a district to serve delinquent offenders under supervision.

The Community Control and Furlough program provides supervision of juveniles placed on community control by the courts, and for those juveniles released on furlough from commitment programs (training schools, halfway houses, etc.). Community services and restitution are a major part of community control. Juvenile offenders work in these programs for a specified number of hours as part of court-ordered supervision. Communities throughout Florida have provided hundreds of work sites for juvenile offenders.

At the headquarters level in Tallahassee, the CYF Program Office acts in a staff capacity to field staff by providing uniform policies and procedures through program manuals and administrative rules. This office is also responsible for quality control, interprogram coordination, monitoring of programs, and other functions as prescribed by law.

Each district also has a CYF Program Office to coordinate programs for dependent and delinquent children.

GEORGIA

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

Under the Department of Corrections, the Facilities Division is responsible for adult offender institutions (state and county) and transitional centers (work release, pre-release, and adjustment centers) and the Probation Division for services on the state and county level (field supervision, Probation/Restitution/Diversion Centers).

The Board of Pardons and Parole is an independent agency which reviews adult parole cases and provides field parole supervision. It is also the only state agency vested with the power to grant clemency.

Under the Department of Human Resources' Division of Youth Services, juvenile institutions, parole and the majority of probation services are provided by county-operated and financed juvenile courts. In several counties, these responsibilities are shared by both Division of Youth Services staff and county staff.

EXEMPLARY

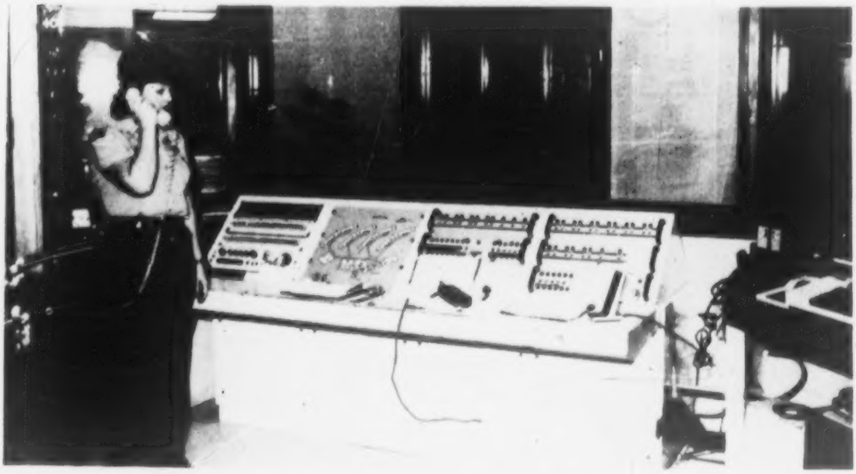

Dodge Correctional Institution

A "small town" concept emphasises the campus-like environment of this medium security institution. The design offers excellent visibility from the housing unit central control station. Passive solar heating and a woodchip-fired boiler supplements the heating and hot water system. "Earth berms" are utilized to provide further energy efficiency.

The Special Alternative Incarceration Unit (Shock Incarceration) provides 50 beds for young, impressionable offenders to serve a 90 day sentence in hopes of "shocking" them into the realization of the consequences of their acts.

JUVENILE INSTITUTIONS

Original jurisdiction in juvenile cases is at the District (Magistrate) Court level. These courts cannot commit directly to an institution, but commit instead to the Department of Health and Welfare*, with or without a recommendation for placement. The Department then makes placement decisions regarding youth committed to the department's custody. A youth is under the purview of the juvenile code up until the age of eighteen, although the department may maintain jurisdiction of a committed youth up until the age of nineteen. The maximum age of jurisdiction by the department was reduced from 21 to 19 with the enactment of the amended Youth Rehabilitation Act on July 1, 1985.*

The department may not commit status offenders or misdemeanants to the State Youth Services Center.

Shawnee Correctional Center Drafting Program

This facility, constructed adjacent to an existing minimum security institution and served by its utility plant, is a full-service institution. Each housing unit was built around the X-house concept with a central control unit at the junction of four 56-bed wings. This housing arrangement is the most personnel efficient of designs in use by Illinois. Preengineered metal building systems were used.

Facility cost $38,600,000

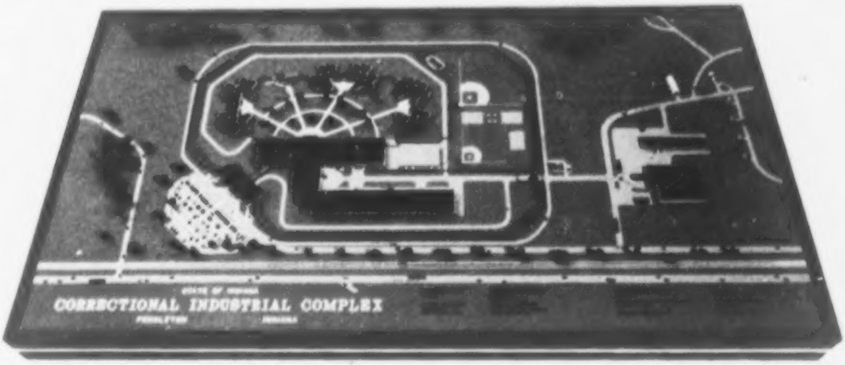
EXEMPLARY



Correctional Industrial Complex

The location of CIC adjacent to the Indiana Reformatory not only eliminated the cost of a new site, but it will allow for the sharing of some services between the two institutions. The Complex is designed to promote the work ethic within the offender community and simultaneously promote self-sufficiency within the Department of Correction. Many desirable activities and opportunities will be offered to the inmates in exchange for a good day's work. These incentives will ultimately provide offenders with marketable skills to assist them in their reintegration into society.

CIC will not only provide meaningful offender job assignments and create additional bedspace, the Department's foodservice quality and cost efficiency will also be vastly improved. When in full production, a centralized food processing program will help feed the prison population throughout Indiana. Included are a creamery, a meat processing and slaughter area, a bakery, and a fruit and vegetable processing area. A commissary area will process meat products, fruits and vegetables into ready-to-eat and precooked forms. A food science laboratory will be involved with quality control. Products will be packaged and labeled within the complex. Eventually, expansion will include the purchasing of all items ordered in large quantities for the department.

THIS 1¢ MATCH CAN COST YOU MILLIONS.

The damage to confinement facilities caused by inmate arson each year is staggering. And the single, most readily available source of combustion in any cell is the mattress. Don't run the risk of a catastrophic fire. Get the Safe solution. Get Solid Core Chris-Craft Low-smoke 200 Neoprene mattresses.

THE SAFE SOLUTION.

It's a fact. Of all the bedding materials available for high-risk institutions, not one can match the flame-resistant, low-smoke properties of Chris-Craft Low-smoke 200 Neoprene. Not Urethane. Not Boric-acid Treated Cotton. Not one.

Chris-Craft solid core latex foam mattresses are inherently flame-resistant and low-smoke generating. These properties combined with Neoprene's excellent durability make Chris-Craft Low-smoke 200 Neoprene an ideal solution to institutional bedding problems.

Chris-Craft Low-smoke 200 Neoprene mattresses are also:

• Antibacterial • Resistant to Oils, Solvents and Chemicals •
• Nonallergenic • Resistant to Body Impression •
• Scrim Reinforced for Dimensional Stability •
• Compressions Available from Soft to Extra Firm •
• Widths up to 82-inches •

With all these benefits, it's no wonder Chris-Craft Low-smoke 200 Neoprene is used by the United States Navy, the United States Coast Guard, the Canadian Defense Ministry and by many Federal, State, and County confinement facilities.

Kansas State Penitentiary

This project involved the phased renovation and expansion of the existing Kansas State Penitentiary with the goal of creating 488 medium security beds (288 new and 200 existing). Major emphasis was on energy efficiency with housing modules constructed with precast concrete grillage for window security also preventing solar gain while reflecting natural daylight into the rooms. A diagonal orientation plus north-south contiguous three-housing unit design reduces prevailing winter wind effects.

Each housing unit is subdivided into eight-men living modules, each within equal distance to the guard work station. The inmate areas were limited to two stories above grade with an elevated guard work station providing vision of dayrooms, sleeping room doors and multi-purpose space on the lower level.

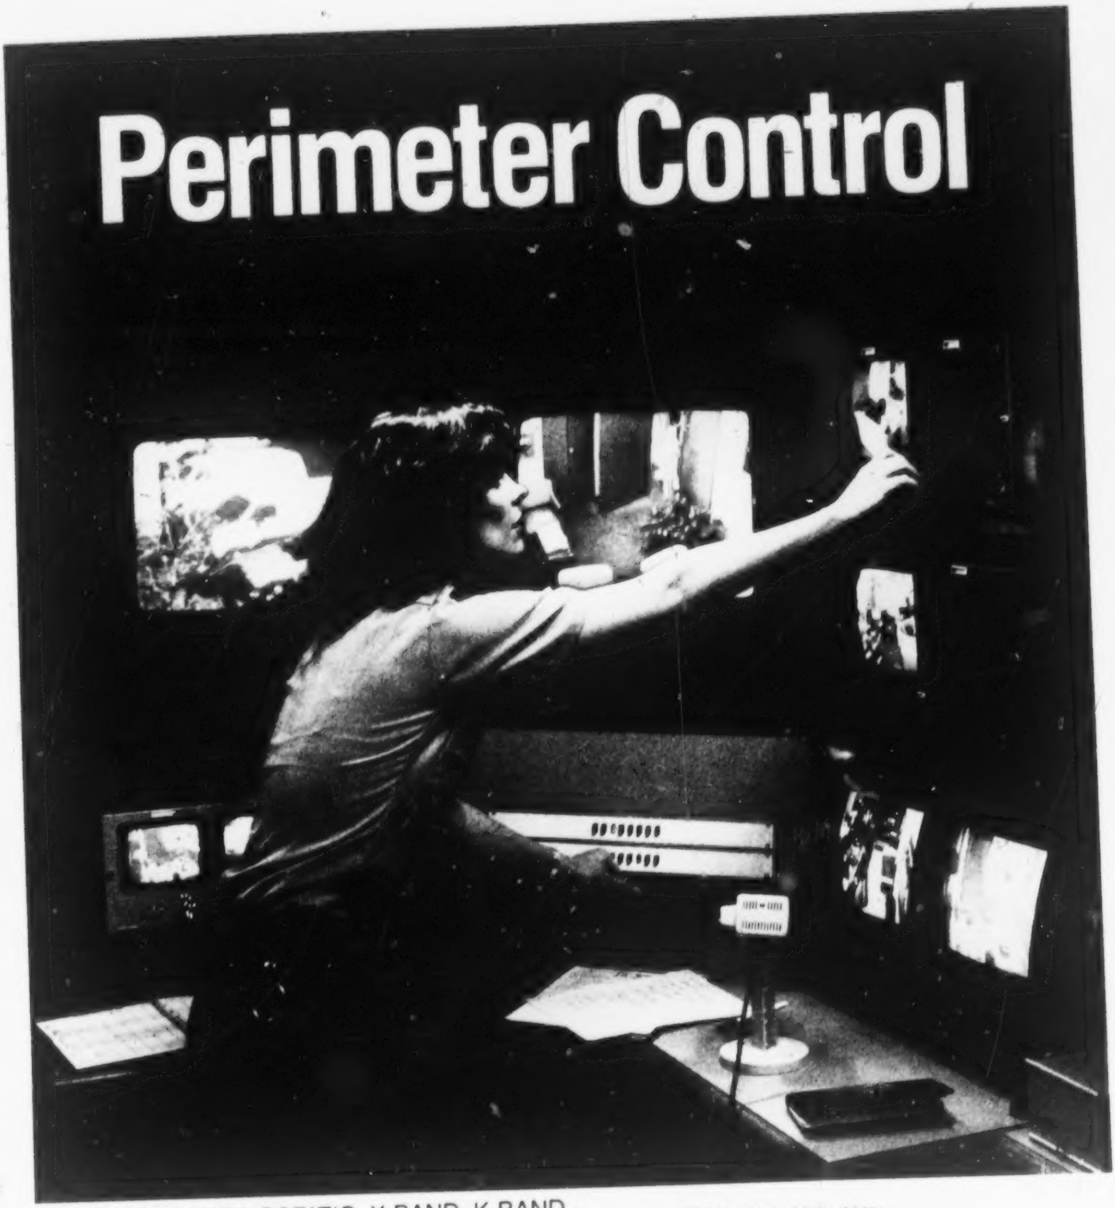
Perimeter Control



BISTATIC, MONOSTATIC, X-BAND, K-BAND... which sensor is best? Each has distinct advantages which will vary from site to site.

All of our perimeter microwave sensors establish a field adjustable 3-dimensional detection pattern to provide positive detection of intruders to help you control perimeter activity.

Best of all, we'll help you design a system that meets your exact security needs — from perimeter intrusion detection to video and data transmission.

Let us show you why SOUTHWEST MICROWAVE sensors should be an integral part of your perimeter security design. Contact Tom Wallace for more information.

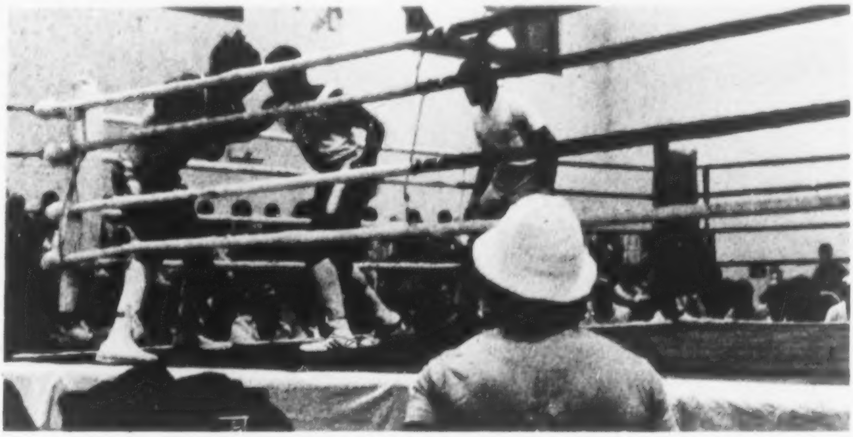
EXEMPLARY



Washington Correctional Institute Boxing Event

In clearing land for sections of the Washington Correctional Institute, two ancient Indian sites were located. One, dating from 5000 B.C. to 2000 B.C. and the other from the late 19th century to the mid 20th century. Known as WCI's Scarsborough Creek Archaeological Site, numerous artifacts such as atlatl (weapon used to kill deer by the Archaic or Messo-Indians), arrowheads, and tools from the early site and pottery shards and clay pipe parts from the later period, are on display in the Administration Building.

Two unusual programs are also in effect along with canteen, culinary, horticultural and other programs. They are the Ivan Merritt Braille Project operated through Prison Enterprises for the purpose of providing braillé textbooks for blind students attending public schools in Louisiana, and the Mailout Project which is a mailing service for the Office of Tourism.

Recreation plays an important role in the rehabilitation process. Seasonal activities such as tackle and flag football, basketball, volleyball and softball leagues are organized. Assorted board games are provided. Boxing events are held on a regular basis year round and are open to the public.

Roxbury Correctional Institution

The facility is arranged in an open-campus style and occupies 35 acres. Although designed as a medium security institution, it has been fitted to meet maximum security standards. Security features include a sound/microwave system, a K-9 Unit, and seven security towers along the double perimeter fence.

The interior compound consists of four housing units, a chapel, education building, gymnasium, and an administration building. Three of the housing units are X-shaped and contain 192 cells each. One T-shaped 144-bed unit houses those inmates designated for special management, the handicapped, mentally ill, also those on protective custody and disciplinary segregation. The institution utilizes the unit management concept, providing a team approach to inmate supervision.

Due to the overcrowding experienced by the Maryland Division of Correction, the opening of this facility was staggered and the housing units were occupied as they were completed. Further, the Roxbury Correctional Institution was the first Maryland correctional institution to be in 100% compliance with standards imposed by the Maryland Commission on Correctional Standards.

JUVENILE SERVICES

Juvenile institutions, intake, probation, and aftercare (parole) services all come under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Services Agency. The majority of children who come under the preview of the Juvenile Services Agency are supervised by juvenile counselors within the community or are placed in private community-based residential programs. Less than 10% are committed to institutional facilities by the courts. Commitments are for indeterminate periods of time. At the time of commitment, the Juvenile Services Agency assigns an aftercare worker to the case whose job is to prepare the community for the child's return as well as help the institution prepare the child for eventual release back into the community. The date of release is determined by the institutional staff and the aftercare worker who together make their recommendation to the courts for final approval.

JUVENILE INTAKE, PROBATION AND AFTERCARE

The decision to put juvenile offenders on probation instead of institutionalizing them is made by the Court, based on the recommendation of the juvenile counselor. The Intake, Probation and Aftercare services are provided by juvenile counselors within each region. The State (including Baltimore City) is geographically broken down into ten regions; the Supervisors administer the services for their region of the state. They are responsible to a Deputy Director for their respective regions.

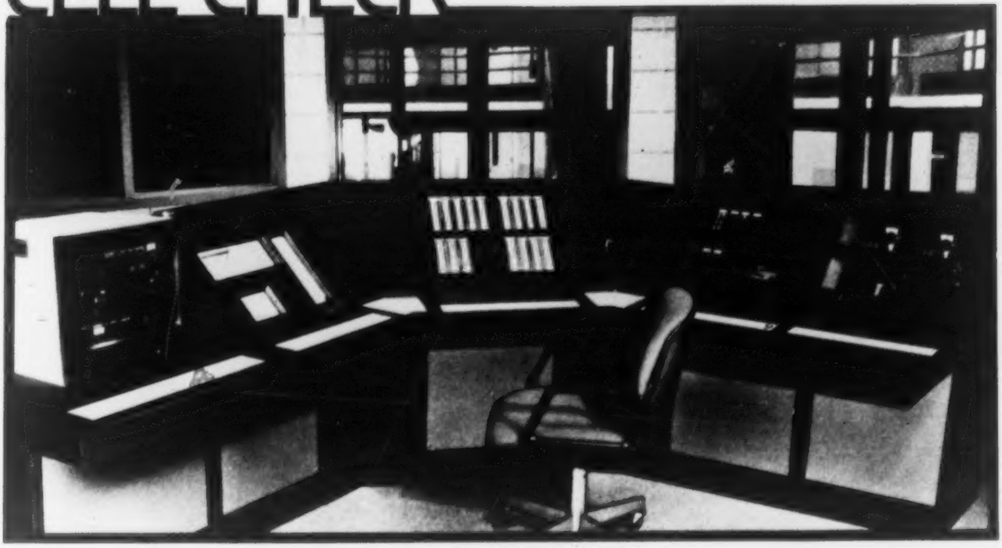
CELL CHECK



a correctional facility electronic security system from Simplex

From years of experience, we understand your concerns about reliability, operational flexibility, service and perhaps more than anything else today – your responsibility to protect your guard force and facility population.

CELL CHECK responds to those concerns with

- Fire/Life Safety
- Security/CCVE
- Emergency Communications
- Cell Control
- Access Management
- Watch Tour Supervision/Reporting
- Touch Screen Color Graphics

CELL CHECK offers solutions to correctional facility electronic security problems. For example, CELL CHECK'S interval timed watch tour program provides hardcopy printout each time your officer checks into a tour station. – An important feature for liability protection. The program automatically triggers an alert if the time interval between stations is too long.

Any home arrest system that ignores alcohol abuse is a problem instead of the solution.

Lack of measures to deal with the temptation to drink while under home arrest is a major shortcoming of most home arrest systems.

Guardian Alternative Technologies addresses alcohol abuse head-on. As an industry leader, Guardian offers comprehensive home arrest systems and programs throughout the nation. Systems that include state-of-the-art technology, such as radio frequency ankle bracelet systems, and evidence-quality testing of home arrest offenders for alcohol use, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

In addition, Guardian offers many other advantages for a jurisdiction considering home arrest:

- Custom designed, comprehensive, expandable programs to fit a jurisdiction's specific needs—including alcohol monitoring, RF ankle bracelets, speaker-identification, and a variety of additional services.
- Electronic monitoring of offenders, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, through the Guardian Command Center. The center is staffed by trained professionals, saving jurisdictions the expense of adding monitoring personnel.
- Continual updates of systems with new technology in components.
- Leasing programs which avoid costly upfront financing for jurisdictions and taxpayers.

Guardian. National authority in home arrest, because we solve problems.

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

Both the adult and juvenile state correctional institutions come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections. The Commissioner of Corrections has responsibility for parole and supervised release. With the exception of the parole of inmates with life sentences, this parole authority is delegated to the Office of Adult Release. The Executive Officer of Juvenile Release, under the authority of the Commissioner, is the paroling authority for juveniles.

The Board of Pardons has the authority to grant pardons and pardon extraordinaries, and to commute sentences.

Probation, parole and supervised release are provided by the state and counties in different manners. Counties participating in the State Community Corrections Act (one-third of the counties; two-thirds of the state population) provide probation, parole and supervised release services to both adults and juveniles. In the remaining counties, these services are provided by the counties either with their own personnel or through contracts with the state.

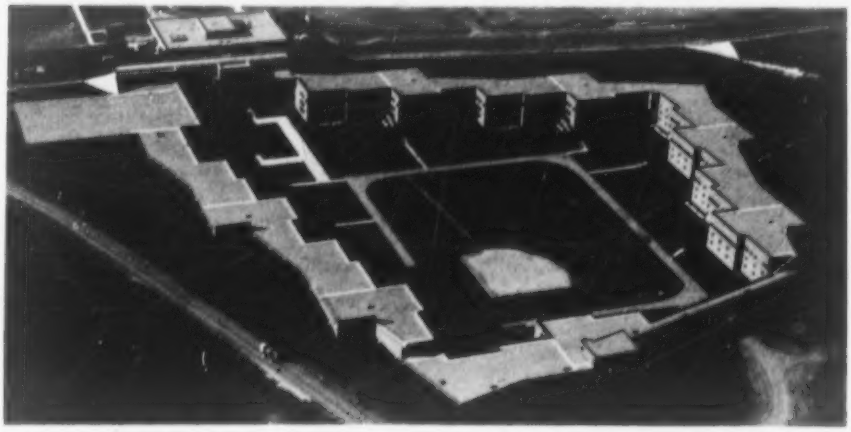
EXEMPLARY



Minnesota Correctional Facility—Oak Park Heights

Oak Park Heights is the first major earth sheltered correctional facility in the nation. It is divided into eight attached complexes with housing on the lower two levels and industry workspace above. In addition, there is a core building for central administrative functions. Other spaces in the facility include a gymnasium, a chapel, an education complex, a high security control center and a 42 bed medical center. The complexes are arranged in a U-shape around a large courtyard and are connected on each level by corridors.

The core building is the only part of the facility which rises above grade level. This building serves as the main entrance to the facility and contains the central kitchen, visitor facilities and administrative offices. By building the facility below grade level, it blends into the landscape and is almost invisible to public view from the highway or nearby residential community. Although it is earth sheltered on three sides, all housing units face inward onto a large open recreational space, permitting a ready view of the outdoors.

Low-cost operation of the facility was a major consideration and for that reason energy conservation became a high priority. Because of its design, energy consumption is reduced by nearly 40 percent in comparison to a facility of the same size using conventional systems.

Missouri Eastern Correctional Center

"A new approach" was the goal of the Department of Corrections in planning the Missouri Eastern Correctional Center. The new prison program had to provide its residents with an atmosphere that encouraged the adoption and growth of strong work habits, personal pride, and a willingness to accept responsibility and accountability as a part of everyday life.

To achieve this goal, large group functions have been decentralized in a campus-like design to help reduce the tensions of overcrowding. Four two-wing, 128-man dormitories were designed to accommodate the program which divided the inmates into four distinct groups for specialized corrections programming. Prisoners have keys to their individual cells; however, access to the entire cell block is controlled through a central guard station.

Each resident housing unit is managed by a functional unit manager reporting to an assistant superintendent. The specific program basis in each unit is as follows: Unit One-Sexual Offender Treatment; Unit Two-Drug and Alcohol Treatment; Unit Three-Violent Offender Treatment; Unit Four-General Treatment.

MONTANA

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

The Corrections Division, under the Department of Institutions, provides for adult institutions and services. Within the Division is the Community Corrections Bureau, which supervises adult probationers and parolees.

Juvenile institutions and services were transferred to the Department of Family Services on July 1, 1987. Services provided include institutions, diagnostic and evaluation and aftercare.

The Board of Pardons is attached administratively to the Corrections Division but is autonomous in its authority to parole adults.

Juvenile probation services are handled locally by judicial districts which are funded by the counties.

ADULT INSTITUTIONS

Adults convicted of a felony are committed to the Department of Institutions which places them in the Montana State Prison, Women's Correctional Center or Swan Youth Forest Camp.

Adjudicated delinquents serving an indeterminate sentence are committed to the Department of Family Service's Pine Hills or Mountain View Schools.

Montana State Prison

This expansion project, completed in 1986, involved the complete restructuring of the existing prison complex. Originally one institution with all custody levels, there are now three separate compounds. The three custody levels, maximum, high and minimum, are separate with inmates within one level having no contact with the other compounds. New housing and support facilities were constructed to achieve this effort including vocational/industrial and educational program facilities.

Nebraska State Penitentiary

The construction of new housing and ancillary facilities in 1981 at the site of an existing institution has allowed the Department to substantially modernize the State's maximum security institution while taking advantage of existing industries operations at the site. Housing at the old institution was then demolished and the perimeter was expanded to include the new construction. The result has been an efficient, "State of the Art" institution.

The Nebraska State Penitentiary employs several strategies designed to compliment each other in order to provide a secure, safe and humane correctional environment. The Unit Management concept is utilized affording a high degree of security and control relative to the inmate population. The current classification system is based on a mechanical scoring procedure in which specific factors are assigned point value. The institution maintains multiple tower supervision of the perimeter and inside areas. The perimeter is protected by a Perm-Alert system and an E-Field detection system. A video camera has been installed to provide additional coverage in high security areas.

The Nebraska State Penitentiary, in conjunction with the Department, actively seeks to develop correctional industries as well as other worthwhile work programs for the inmates. A comprehensive recreational program is available for leisure time. Programs within the institution include the Prose and Cons Braille Unit, the Hobby Craft Association and Religion. The Braille Unit was formed in 1980. The primary goal is the production of textbooks from kindergarten through twelfth grade for use in private, parochial and public schools. Over 100 inmates participate in the Hobby Craft Association. Hobby activities include leather work, bead work, woodworking and other art-related activities. In addition, the institution provides daily opportunities for inmates to express their religious convictions.

Save 1/3 the space on storage of prisoners' effects.

Correctional institutions all over the country are using White Conveyors for the storage of prisoners' effects. Many centers store these effects in garment bags or on hangers. The conveyors need no aisles and so can be "caged" or "walled in" with just a small section open for the attendant. Retrieval time is dramatically reduced. A push of a button automatically brings the proper conveyor position to the attendant. Prisoners' effects are thus stored in an organized, easily retrievable fashion.

If your space is at a premium White Conveyors may be the answer.

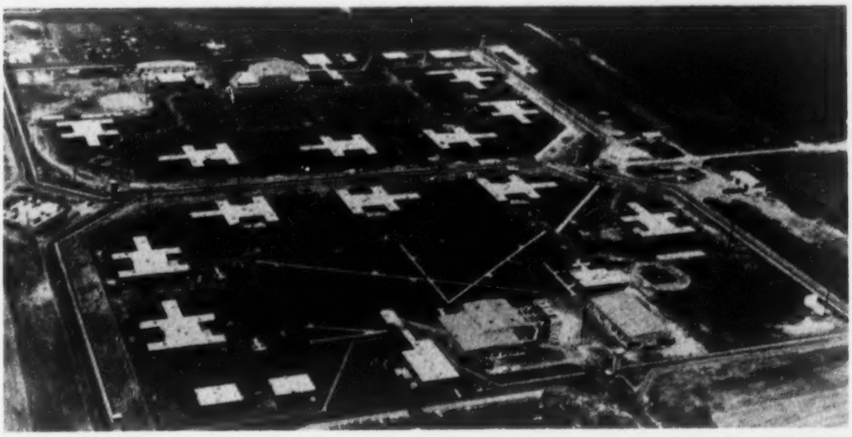
EXEMPLARY



Southern State

Southern State is a 1,000 bed prefabricated facility constructed on the grounds of an existing institution. Modular units make up two separate facilities, 448 beds and 560 beds, under one central administration.

A grant of $100,000 was awarded by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection to create an artificial barrier reef which will function as a fish and shellfish hatchery off the coast of New Jersey.

Other programs include horticulture, consisting of an orchard maintained by the inmates and greenhouses used for plant and seasonal flower production. An outdoor cement furniture production program for unskilled inmates produces such items as birdbaths and park benches.

COMMUNITY SERVICE CENTERS

The Community Service Centers are a pre-release concept designed to ease the re-entry of the released, adult offender into the community. Houses not more than 50 for a period of about four months. Residents work a regular full-time job or attend school or vocational training. Residents eligible for admission into the program are those who have achieved minimum custody status in the institution, who meet stipulated admission criteria and who are within seven months of release to parole or termination of sentence.

ADULT PAROLE BOARDS

The State Parole Board, is a full-time Board composed of a Chairman and six Associate Members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Board is comprised of a panel for adult, young adult and juvenile cases. The members are further paired to hear county jail cases.

Each panel consists of two Associate Members with the Chairman sitting as the third member of each panel. The Board is the paroling authority for all offenders committed as adults, young adults or juveniles in the state and county jail inmates with terms in excess of 60 days. The Board also investigates and advises the Governor on all applications for executive clemency. In 1984, a Victim Input Program was started. The Board will consider the testimonies of victims of first and second degree crimes in making decisions.

ADULT AND JUVENILE PROBATION SERVICES

A probation department exists in each county to provide probation services to all courts in the county that handle adult and/or juvenile and child support matters at the trial level. The Assignment Judge of the Superior Court in each judicial district appoints probation officers, fixes their salaries and administers the day-to-day operation of each probation department. Operating costs are paid for predominately out of county revenues.

The Administrative Office of the Courts, through an Assistant Director for Probation, coordinates and oversees all probation services, acts for the Judiciary in relation to interstate probation matters, assists in developing policies and programs, conducts training for probation officers, and functions as consultant and advisor to the Judiciary.

ADULT INSTITUTIONS

Adult offenders, 18 and over (except 15 year olds who have committed murder and 16 year olds who are convicted of other violent felonies), who have been convicted of a felony are committed to the Corrections Department where they must serve a minimum sentence of six months at one of the following institutions. Misdemeanants and felons may be placed on probation by the court with the Corrections Department supervising them.

In some cases, the judge may decide to send an adult offender to an institution for a 60-day diagnostic evaluation commitment. After the evaluation is made, the judge makes a decision to sentence or place on probation.

The Executone® Maximum Security Telephone System:™ Added Safety for the Correctional Officer.

In a correctional institution, the telephone is far more than just a communication device. It's a tool to safeguard lives.

That's why Executone, in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Prisons, has designed the Maximum Security Telephone System: the most advanced computerized telecommunications network for correctional institutions ever conceived.

The Maximum Security Telephone System anticipates virtually every possible security situation. Take, for instance, the System's special "No Dial" feature that automatically generates an alarm if a phone is left off the hook longer than 14 seconds. Or the "Watch-Call Station" feature that simplifies and safeguards inmate head counts. To call in, officers simply dial a 3-digit code that instantly connects them to the "Watch-Call Station" located in the control center. Up to 32 officers can call in–and confer– simultaneously.

The System also provides special phones in key security areas like control centers, guard towers, sally ports and emergency personnel areas. Should an emergency arise, an officer need only dial a 3-digit code to set off all security conference phones simultaneously.

For all its technological sophistication, the System is remarkably easy to use, install and maintain. And its price is competitive with systems that are currently used in correctional facilities but do not offer these advanced security features.

So play it safe. Call the Executone experts and learn more about what this special System can do for your facility.

EXEMPLARY

Greene Correctional Facility

From 1983 to 1986, New York added some 6,000 beds to its correctional system. This prototype design accounted for 4,400 beds. Institutions can be added in 10 to 12 months from start to finish at reasonable cost.

A comprehensive full service facility with vocational, academic, recreational, visiting, health and support service program designed around a campus concept of individual buildings. Inmates move between buildings unescorted. The complex includes seven dormitories (each housing 100 inmates), a special housing unit for a 32-cell, maximum security space, and a variety of administrative and support buildings. The facility also features a complete gymnasium complex, several outdoor basketball and handball courts, and multi-use football field/baseball diamonds.

Internal security is achieved through a combination of staff supervision and security screens on housing buildings and locked internal doors. Inmate participation in program activities and the prison's uncrowded condition help maintain internal controls. External security consists of a double fence system, intrusion alarm system, CCTV, metal barbed tape, lighting, perimeter control road and a vehicular sally port to control delivery vehicles entering and exiting the facility.

Facility cost: $28 million

Of the 86 facilities in North Carolina, 69 are managed through six Area Offices, centrally located within six geographic areas of the State.

Three geographic areas are managed by the Western Area Manager and three are managed by the Eastern Area Manager. All adult male misdemeanants and felons sentenced to 5 years or less are received at a unit designated as the Reception/Diagnostic Center. At this center the inmate is evaluated and classified for assignment to a designated unit within the area for the completion of an appropriate correctional program.

Minimum custody youthful offenders between the ages of 18-21 are separated from the adult population in ten specially designated youthful offender facilities.

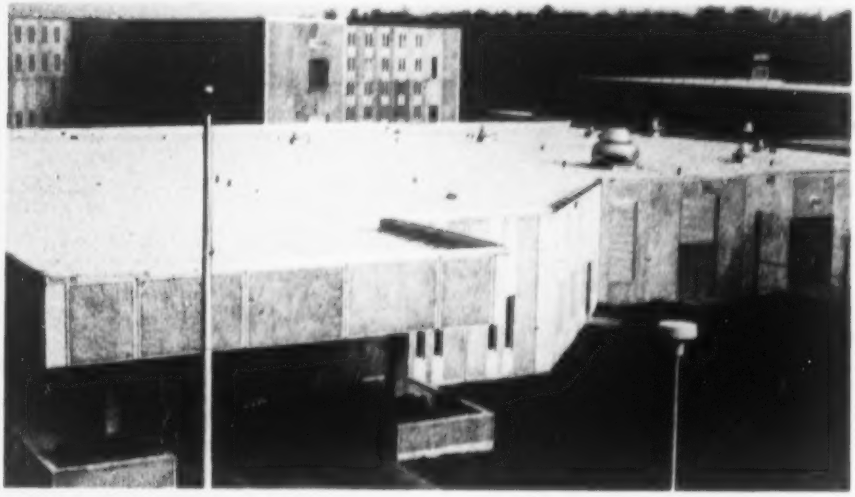
EXEMPLARY



Eastern Correctional Center

Eastern Correctional Center in Greene County and Southern Correctional Center, northeast of Charlotte, are two identical, 480 cell, medium custody prisons. They represent the last major phase of a $110 million capital construction program. More than $380,000 was saved in architectural/engineering fees by duplicating the design of ECC for SCC. Construction on SCC was begun one year sooner as a result of the duplication. Another significant cost-saving measure is the use of wood-fueled boilers.

The centers are comprised of two major buildings connected by a central spine. A one-story building encloses the administrative offices, dental and medical clinics, dining hall and kitchen, gymnasium, vocational training area and the heating plant. The rear building is a two-story housing complex containing single cells, staff work areas, educational classrooms, barbershop, library, chapel and other services. Security control centers within the housing unit electronically control access to all corridors and cellblocks.

For management purposes, the Centers are sub-divided into five semi-autonomous units, housing 96 inmates and staffed by a unit management team. The units are assigned functional specialties: three units house general population; one, a control unit, houses difficult to manage inmates and pre-trial safekeepers; one unit houses mentally ill and mentally retarded inmates.

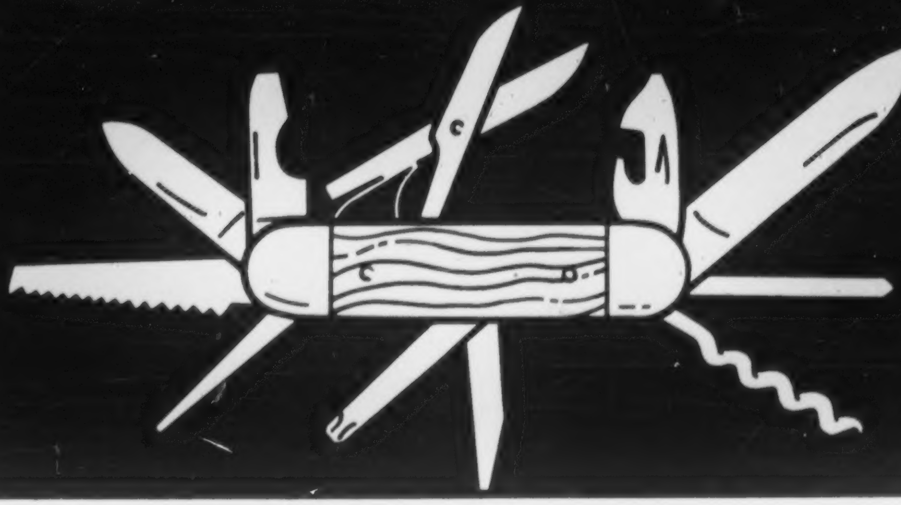
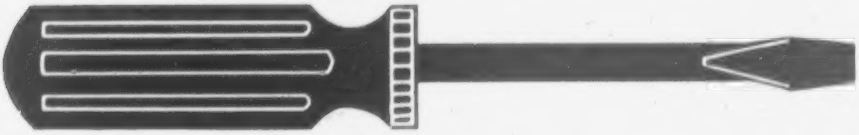
KLUDGE SYSTEMS?



Some new detention products promise wonderful benefits, but end up so complex they can't be installed right, they fail in operation, or they can't be fixed quickly. Should you risk the untested?

...OR SECURE SYSTEMS?



Stewart-Decatur detention products include locking devices, control panels, doors, frames, and furnishings that you can expect to give a lifetime of service. They seldom break, but if they do, you can repair them easily. Practical products from Stewart-Decatur have set the standards of durability and reliability for over 100 years. If you're building or remodeling, let's get together to talk security. Stewart-Decatur Security Systems, Inc., 1360 Dolwick Dr., P.O. Box 18700, Erlanger, KY 41018-0700. Tel. 606-371-6000.

ADULT INSTITUTIONS

A person convicted of a felony under Ohio law may be sentenced to a penal institution. Ohio statutes divide male penal institutions into two categories—reformatories and penitentiaries. Male persons, except those convicted of first or second degree murder, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years of age may be sentenced to a reformatory, if such persons have not been known previously to have served a sentence in a federal, state or other prison or correctional institution, and are persons whom the sentencing court deems amenable to reformatory methods. Males between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one years, other than those convicted of first or second degree murder, must be sentenced to reformatories unless such males have previously served a sentence in a federal or state prison or correctional institution for conviction of a felony. All other males sentenced to a state penal institution are sent to a penitentiary.

Ohio operates one facility for women convicted of a felony and sentenced to a penal institution — the Ohio Reformatory for Women.

Ross Correctional Institution

Ross Correctional Institution is a medium-security institution set on a 175 acre site that includes 60 acres inside a double security fence. The buildings were constructed of plant-produced concrete with masonry interior walls.

Opened in April 1987, construction costs at Ross were cut by as much as $13-million by scrapping earlier plans for a linear, telephone-pole type institution and using a decentralized design featuring eight, 126-bed housing units.

About 325 employees staff the institution. The self-contained housing units provide excellent lines-of-sight and allow for beneficial interaction between staff and inmates through direct, unit management supervision.

The Ross Correctional Institution is one of 14 similarly designed prisons being built in Ohio.

ADULT PAROLE BOARD AND SERVICES

The Parole Board of the Adult Parole Authority within the Division of Parole and Community Services which is under the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, has parole authority over adult felons. In addition to the seven full-time paid members, nine Hearing Officers expand the functions of the Parole Board.

The Parole Board can release felons from adult institutions on "shock parole" after six months confinement, provided the offense was not murder or aggravated murder, a felony of the first degree, and anyone serving a sentence of actual incarceration. Inmates who complete one-third of their minimum sentences before their first parole hearings may be eligible for educational and vocational furlough. Inmates are also eligible for regular parole after serving the minimum sentence less time for good behavior.

The Adult Parole Authority provides services for local common pleas courts on a contract basis. (See above listing)*

JUVENILE INSTITUTIONS

To be placed into the custody of the Department of Youth Services*, a juvenile offender must be committed by a county juvenile court for an offense which would be a Felony I, II, III, IV, or a capital offense if committed by an adult. Upon commitment, a youth is placed in the appropriate DYS institution based on criteria established regarding age, type of committing offense, and home county. All youth who are committed to DYS may, at the discretion of the Department, be institutionalized to age 21, although very few actually are. There are minimum periods of institutionalization as follows: Murder or aggravated murder, until the youth reaches 21 years of age; felonies of the first and second degree, one year; and felonies of the third and fourth degree, six months. It should be noted that many youth are released before the "minimum" period, through a statutory process which requires approval of the committing court.*

JUVENILE PROBATION

Probation of juveniles is administered by probation officers who are appointed by a Juvenile Court Judge. The Judge may transfer the duties of probation to county probation departments but at no time may a juvenile case be handled by an officer from the Adult Division. The Office of Subsidies within the Department of Youth Services administers a program of state aid to juvenile courts.

In all but two counties, the Juvenile Court is within the Division of Domestic Relations of the Court of Common Pleas. Cuyahoga County has an independent juvenile court, and the Hamilton County juvenile court is a separate division of that county's Court of Common Pleas. All juvenile courts have exclusive original jurisdiction over delinquent, neglected, and "unruly" children under 18 and over physically handicapped children up to age 21.

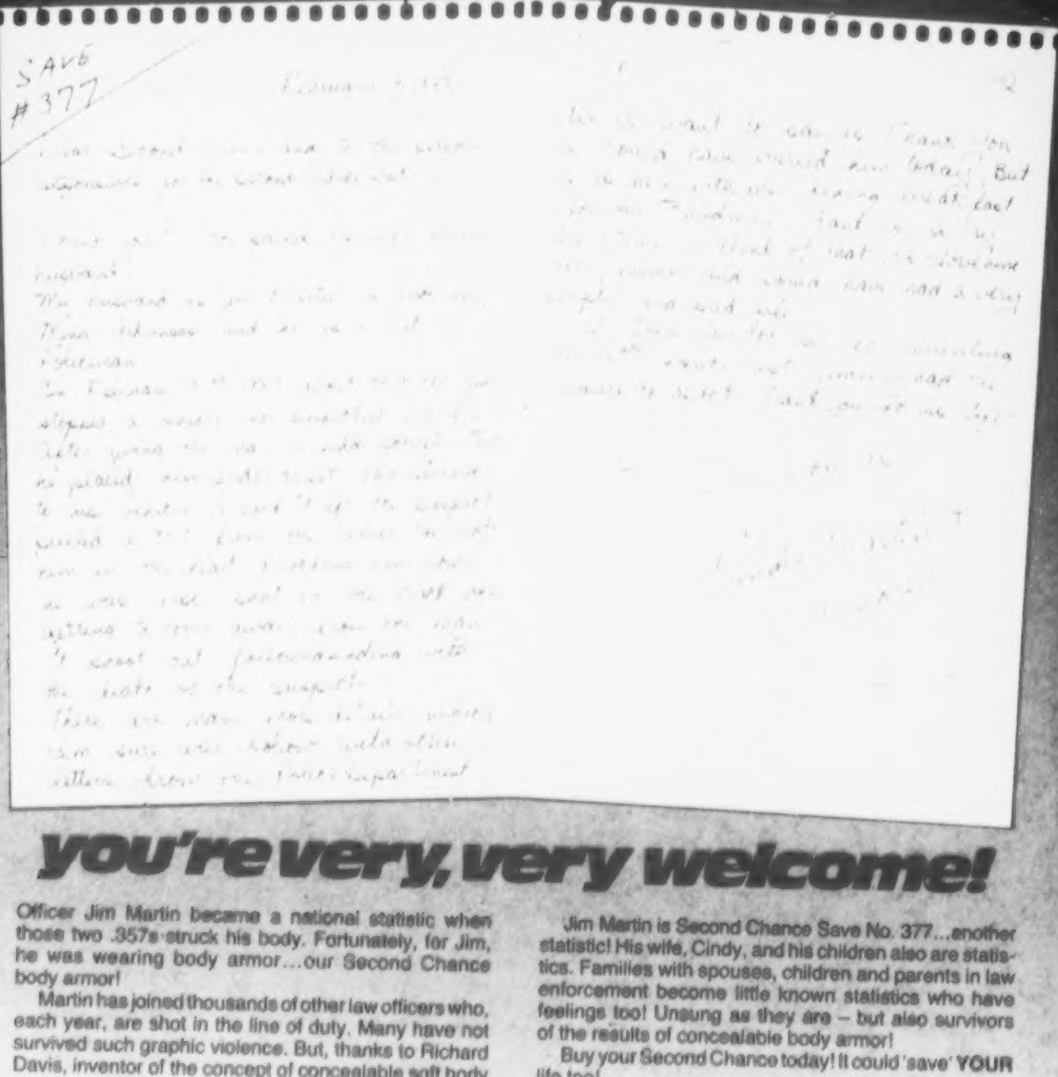
here's something we'd like to share with you...



SAVE

you're very, very welcome!

Officer Jim Martin became a national statistic when those two .357s struck his body. Fortunately, for Jim, he was wearing body armor…our Second Chance body armor!

Martin has joined thousands of other law officers who, each year, are shot in the line of duty. Many have not survived such graphic violence. But, thanks to Richard Davis, inventor of the concept of concealable soft body armor…many have!

Jim Martin is Second Chance Save No. 377…another statistic! His wife, Cindy, and his children also are statistics. Families with spouses, children and parents in law enforcement become little known statistics who have feelings too! Unsung as they are – but also survivors of the results of concealable body armor!

Buy your Second Chance today! It could 'save' YOUR life too!

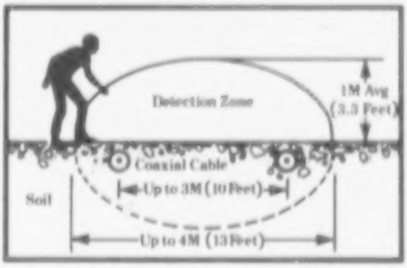
Some perimeter intrusion detection systems use only words to tell the story

SENTRAX puts you in the picture

The SENTRAX Perimeter Intrusion Detection System Operator Terminal displays a detailed map of your site and its perimeter. The unique color coding clearly identifies sensor status and location of intrusions. Only five push buttons are required to respond to all alarm and maintenance events. Team this with a printer to capture all events on hard copy and you have a complete security display and control system.



SENTRAX produces an invisible electromagnetic field above and below ground from two parallel "leaky" coaxial cables buried underground.

JUVENILE PROBATION SERVICES

Probation is a function of the individual county juvenile courts.

COURT ADMINISTRATION

Telephone: (503) 378-6046
R. William Linden Jr., Administrator

PENNSYLVANIA

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

Adult institutions come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections. The Commissioner is appointed by the Governor.

Adult parole cases are reviewed and supervised by the Board of Probation and Parole for probationers and parolees whose sentences are more than two years. County probation departments supervise adult cases with a sentence of two years or less paroled by county courts. The Board also has authority to supervise probation cases and offenders sentenced to confinement with a maximum of two years or less when paroled and referred to the Board by the county courts; county courts retain authority to revoke, terminate or take other judicial actions in these special cases.

Juvenile institutions come under the jurisdiction of the Office of State Facilities for Deliquent Youth of the Department of Public Welfare's Office of Children, Youth and Families. Juvenile probation and aftercare are functions of the counties and their officers.

There are no institutional juvenile parole boards; the Juvenile Court has complete and original jurisdiction over juvenile offenders.

ADULT INSTITUTIONS

Those convicted in adult criminal court and receiving maximum sentences of from two to five years may, at the discretion of the court, be sent to a Correctional Diagnostic and Classification Center for classification and transfer within the state system. Criminal convictions receiving five years or more must be sent to a Correctional Diagnostic and Classification Center. A 23-county region of Western Pennsylvania may send all individuals receiving minimum sentences of at least six months and maximum sentences of less than two years to the regional facility at Uercer.

Parole eligibility occurs at the end of the minimum sentence which may not exceed one-half of the maximum sentence. For certain violent crimes, a mandatory five-year minimum sentence is required. All other cases are sentenced under 1982 sentencing guidelines which require the courts to justify any deviations.

ADULT PAROLE AND PROBATION

The Board of Probation and Parole, a state agency, is responsible for the paroling action and supervision of all adult offenders receiving a sentence of two years or more. Offenders sentenced to a maximum sentence of less than two years are paroled by county courts and supervised by county probation departments.

The Board also has authority to supervise probation cases and offenders sentenced to confinement with a maximum of less than two years when paroled and referred to the Board by the county courts. The Board has only supervision authority in these special cases; county courts retain authority to revoke, terminate, or other judicial actions.

The Board is responsible, by state statute, for establishing uniform state-wide standards for county adult probation services. It also administers a Grant-in-Aid Program which provides funds to counties for the improvement of county adult probation services.

★BOARD OF PROBATION AND PAROLE (FT)

The Board consists of five full-time members, appointed by the Governor with the consent of a majority of the Senate members to serve staggered, renewable six-year terms. Board members are prohibited from engaging in any other employment or political activity.

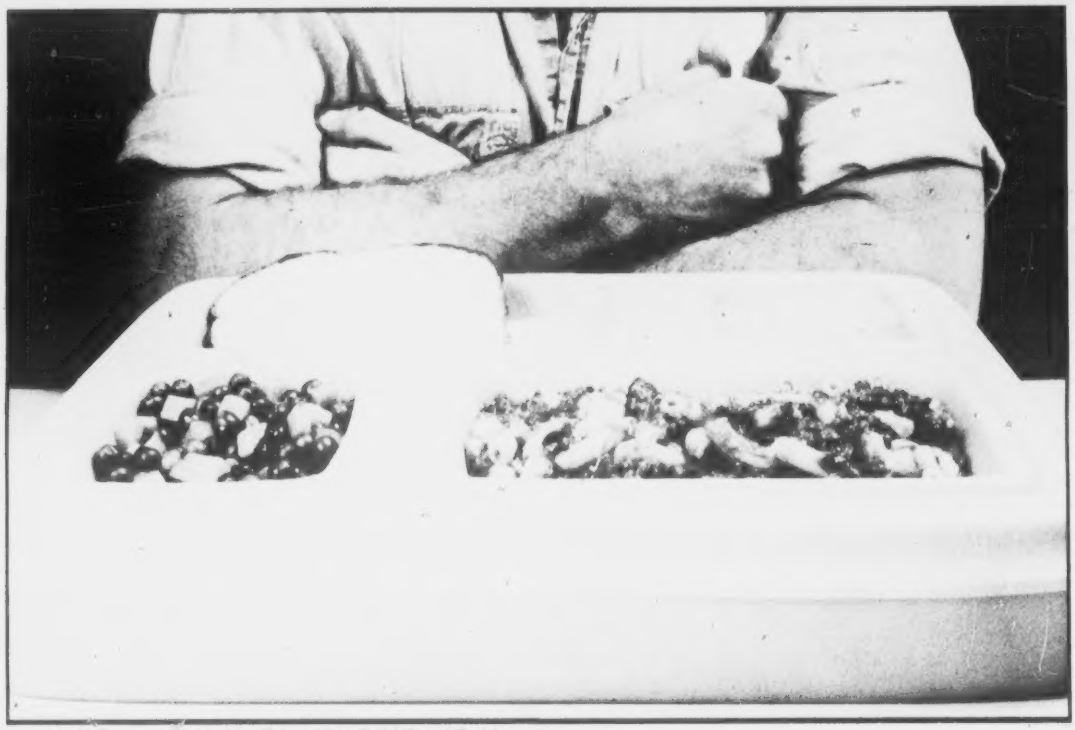
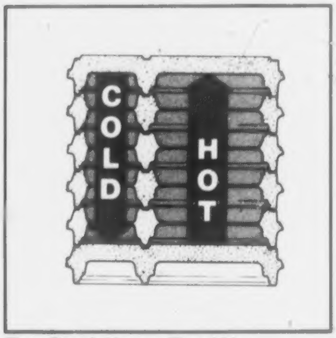
Holds Heat! Holds Up!



Insulated Servers Keep Hot Food Hot, Cold Food Cold.

The Heat's On To Keep the Heat In The Meals You Serve

Want to hold required 140°F serving minimums and find durable serviceware to do it with, too?



Tray Stack Keeps Food Hot To Required 140°F Minimums.

Use Aladdin servers. They capture the heat that's cooked into food to keep it hot. Urethane foam wrapped in a tough, molded shell, insulates it. Perfect for isolation and satellite meals.

Because servers stack in an inter-locking tower, heat rises from each serving compartment, keeping food items above warm.

Cold food items in the stack, meanwhile, keep each other chilled. Materials and seamless molding technique make system impact- and torque-resistant. Protects your investment.

JUVENILE PROBATION AFTERCARE

Within the context of the Juvenile Court Act, the state provides institutions for juveniles but the counties handle juvenile services, i.e., probation aftercare (the term parole is not used). The Juvenile Court Judges' Commission is responsible for advising juvenile courts concerning the proper care and maintenance of delinquent children; establishing standards governing the administrative practices and judicial procedures used in juvenile courts; examining personnel practices and employment standards used in probation offices; collecting, compiling and publishing juvenile court statistics; and administering a grant-in-aid program to improve county juvenile probation services. Commission staff also provide training for juvenile probation officers.

The Commission is comprised of nine juvenile court judges appointed by the Governor.

When Time Counts... Count on Deister

The Deister WK-1200 Management Reporting System would notify you immediately if this situation were really happening. Real time reporting of a duress situation is only one important aspect of the state of the art system from Deister Electronics.

This sophisticated reporting device will not only keep track of officers throughout their rounds, it will also give you verifiable proof of each and every check point as it is being checked, so you know exactly who is where and when.

With the real time reporting capabilities of the WK-1200, Deister has built into the system some very unique guard safety features that will give you immediate, automatic notification of a problem. In other words, if a guard is unable to report or respond — you will save those precious minutes that could mean the difference between life and death.

- If a set interval between check points is exceeded. Central immediately notified.
- Duress call activated by officer, silent call for help also opens microphone so central can monitor what's going on around the officer.
- Position alarm automatically notifies central if the WK-1200 is in a horizontal position for more than 15 seconds.
- Patented Motion sensor automatically notifies central of a lack of motion.

ADULT INSTITUTIONS

Responsibility for direct supervision of institutions is divided among three regional administrators who report to the Deputy Commissioner for Operations. Because of overcrowded conditions, some state inmates are housed in designated local facilities, as provided for by legislation for a period of one year and may be renewed by mutual agreement of the Department of Corrections and local officials. The office of the Deputy Commissioner for Operations is responsible for placing state inmates in designated local facilities. At the end of FY 1987, there were 56 designated local facilities with 558 Department of Corrections' inmates.

PROBATION AND PAROLE SERVICES

The Department of Parole and Community Corrections supervises those placed on probation by the Court, on parole by the Board and those on early release programs created by the legislature to relieve prison overcrowding. They also develop community corrections alternatives to incarceration for the non-violent offender.

The Parole and Community Corrections Board is composed of seven members who serve six year staggered terms. The members are appointed by the Governor, with consent of the Senate, one from each of the six congressional districts, with one member-at-large.

Vested in the Board is the authority to grant paroles, to restore citizenship rights through pardon, and to oversee the operation of the Department of Parole and Community Corrections.

Springfield Correctional Facility

The Springfield Correctional Facility is a co-correctional institution located on the site of the former University of South Dakota. The fenced campus covers 65 acres and includes 27 buildings. Inmate housing is in the former student dormitories.

The facility houses the entire female inmate population as well as male inmates screened from the Penitentiary. First priority for transfers are given to those males who are first offenders serving a five year sentence or less, are under 30 years of age, and who possess a high school diploma or GED certificate. The inmate's prior record and results of various psychological and aptitude tests are reviewed by the Penitentiary Classification Board.

The goal of the program is to train and develop marketable job and job-keeping skills in an effort to help each inmate return to society with a realistic potential to become a responsible, self-reliant and tax-paying citizen. Inmates must attend a vocational education course, additional academic courses and a mandatory physical education course. The vocational program is contracted through a school district and is accredited.

Lake County Regional Correctional Facility

The Tennessee Department of Corrections has designated this facility as the primary training site for adult offenders in the state. Under this mandate, the Reelfoot Lake School was organized within the prison system and approved by the state Department of Education in 1981. Academic and selected vocational classes are scheduled on a two-shift basis—from 7:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and from 2:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. This allows for maximum inmate participation and space utilization.

An 80% passing factor for students taking the GED has been successfully maintained. Vocational programs are registered with the U.S. Department of Labor as Certified Apprenticeship Training and includes carpentry, masonry, plumbing, welding, barbering, air conditioning, food service, forestry, small engine repair and others. Several residents have received associate degrees in Arts or Sciences from Dyersburg State Community College.

The aim of this vocational education program is to provide the student with a marketable skill which will enable him to gain and maintain meaningful employment after release into the community.

Cost of facility: $9,350,000.

YOU DON'T GET TO BE ONE OF THE FASTEST GROWING FIRMS IN PUBLIC FINANCE BY PLAYING HARD TO GET.

OUR UNSURPASSED LOCAL PRESENCE, INNOVATIVE THINKING, AND OVER $3 BILLION IN CAPITAL HAVE MADE US A LEADER IN CORRECTIONAL FACILITIES FINANCING.

It's not surprising Shearson Lehman Brothers was among the fastest growing firms in public finance during 1986.

Not when you consider the unmatched local presence Shearson Lehman Brothers has throughout the country.

Our 17 Public Finance Banking offices–more than any other firm–give us the edge in providing clients with close contact and a keen grasp of their local circumstances.

But our unequaled local presence isn't the only reason we're a leader in public finance.

Our presence, along with innovative thinking, led to developments like the precedent-setting Certificates of Participation transaction for the Hudson County, New Jersey, Correctional Facility.

What's more, our over $3 billion in capital and our willingness to put it on the line allow us to quickly respond to opportunities for our clients.

If you'd like to see what innovative thinking backed by over $3 billion in capital can do for your next financing, you don't have to look far.

EXEMPLARY

Augusta Correctional Center

Constructed entirely of pre-cast structural concrete panels, this correctional center was built on a remote site close to the small town of Craigsville, population 300. Building a large facility accessible only by county road carried special challenges. A plan, breaking up the work into small bid packages, was initiated to attract local contractors. This strategy helped keep much of the work within the area with the local contractors employing local people—a benefit to the town which supported the prison construction and a cost benefit to the project. A computerized Critical Path Method (CPM) scheduling system was used which required detailed input from all involved. Training sessions with workers were conducted with emphasis on quality control, safety standards and strict scheduling.

To address the logistical problems posed by the location of the site, the construction manager worked closely with the state highway department upgrading local roads and bridges to withstand the loads of heavy equipment and material. A portable concrete batch plant was set up to supply concrete as needed. Complex erosion and sediment control structures were installed and maintained throughout the rolling topography of the 55-acre site to protect the clear mountain streams in the region.

The successful CPM management approach by the Gilbane Building Company provided the Department of Corrections with an improved plan—adding an additional guard tower, heating plant modifications so wood and coal could be burned, and an additional storage area for the wood supply—all within the guaranteed maximum price.

Facility cost: $24,433,000 (excludes land and associated acquisition costs.)
Architects: Oliver, Smith, Cooke/Lindner

WEST VIRGINIA

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

The Department of Corrections is responsible for adult and juvenile correctional facilities, and adult parole supervision. The Department also handles adult and juvenile interstate compact cases for probation and parole as well as a small percentage of probation supervision cases. Women prisoners are sent to the Federal Correctional Institution in Alderson, West Virginia.

The Board of Probation and Parole is the paroling authority for adults.

The Supreme Court of Appeals maintains probation departments that are responsible for providing probationary supervision services to adults and juveniles. Under West Virginia statute, juveniles return to the committing court for institutional release. Since release is judicially and not administratively determined, this is considered probation. These juveniles are supervised by the Department of Human Services. In approximately 60% of the cases, the Department of Human Services also provides the Courts with juvenile probation officers.

Federal Correctional Institution Phoenix, Arizona

With a primary design consideration of integrating 327,000 sq. ft. of building space into a natural desert environment, this award winning 567-bed minimum security facility consists of five low-profile housing units, a two-story administration complex and an industrial/vocational training facility. The facility is fully self-contained and was designed with concern for low maintenance, energy conservation and durability.

FCI—Phoenix Interior, inmate housing unit

The campus plan facility is located in an undeveloped desert location. The masonry construction, earthen berms, solar orientation of buildings and extensive use of shading devices help reduce the scale and energy consumption of the individual buildings.

The facility has a full range of program areas including educational, vocation training, religious and recreational programs. There is also a large electronics and cable connectors industrial operation.

Facility cost: $23,920,000
Architects: Lescher and Mahoney

U.S. SENTENCING COMMISSION

1331 Pennsylvania Avenue N.W., Suite 1400
Washington, D.C. 20004
Telephone: (202) 662-8800

Created under provisions of the Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984, the U.S. Sentencing Commission's main responsibility is to devise guidelines for federal judges to use in determining the appropriate sentence for individuals and organizations convicted of federal crimes. The major goals of the guidelines are to eliminate unwarranted disparity in sentences meted out for similar offenders who commit similar crimes, to ensure fairness in sentencing, and to ensure certainty of punishment.

As directed by the provisions of the Act, the Commission submitted its initial set of Sentencing Guidelines and Policy Statements to the Congress on April 13, 1987. Based on the specific characteristics of the offense and the offender, the Guidelines determine the type of sentence ordinarily appropriate for each defendant, and in the case of incarceration, define a narrow range of time to be served for most federal crimes. An important feature of the Act provides that the early release provisions of the U.S. Parole Commission are not applicable to offenders sentenced under the guidelines and that the Parole Commission itself be phased out over a five-year period. Under statute the Congress has six months to study the Guidelines and unless contrary action is taken by law prior to November 1, 1987, the Guidelines will become effective.

The seven voting commissioners are appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. Two non-voting, ex-officio members also serve on the Commission, the chairman of the U.S. Parole Commission and the Attorney General or his designee. The Commission is an independent agency in the Judicial branch of government. Administrative support is provided by the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts.

Commissioners: William W. Wilkins Jr., Chairman; Michael K. Block;
Stephen G. Breyer; Helen G. Corrothers; George E. MacKinnon;
Ilene H. Nagel; Paul H. Robinson.

Principal Staff: Suzanne B. Conlon, Executive Director;
John R. Steer, General Counsel; David B. Lombardero, Chief Counsel;

The capacities of the Regional Centres range from 25 to 400. Capacities at Forest Camps range from 45 to 60 depending on the type of program at the camp. Community Correctional Centres, which are attended under the authority of the Temporary Absence Program for work or educational release, range in capacity from 15 to 25. The average daily adult provincial count is approximately 2,000, with admissions to the system in the course of the year reaching 12,000.

Levels of security range from locked tiers and supervised control of all inmate movement to passes to attend work in the community from a community correctional centre. Programs offered throughout the province include shop work, forestry and farm work, wilderness survival training, regular employment and educational upgrading in local communities.

Community Services staff number 494 at over 86 locations and include Probation Officers (including parole supervision), Bail Supervisors, Probation Interviewers, and Family Court Counsellors. The Branch operates six Youth Detention and Containment Centres. The average number of admissions to the Community Service system during a twelve month period is approximately 20,000.

NEWFOUNDLAND/ LABRADOR

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

Pursuant to the passing of the Adult Corrections Act, 1975, a division of the Department of Justice was created whereby the provincial custodial institutions and the probation service were amalgamated. This marked the commencement of the Adult Probation Services under the Community Corrections Branch of the Adult Corrections Division*. The population served are adult offenders (age 18+) whereas juvenile offenders are served by the* Department of Social Services*, and parole is a responsibility of the* Correctional Service Canada*.*

The Department of Social Services is the principal agent for the delivery of Youth Corrections Services. Youth between the ages of 12-18+ years usually are referred by the youth court upon disposition for case management, but other referrals for voluntary counselling are possible. The services available usually fall into one of four categories, a) alternative measures and dispositional options, b) community corrections, e.g., probation, c) community residential care, and d) secure custody.

ONTARIO

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

The Ministry of Correctional Services is divided into three main divisions: Operations; Planning and Policy, and Finance and Administrative Services. Also, the ministry has jurisdiction over the Board of Parole which considers for parole those inmates serving sentences of up to two years less a day in provincial institutions.

The Operations Division resulted from the amalgamation of the former Institutions and community programs divisions in 1984 and is comprised of the offender programming branch and five regions, each with its own regional director and regional managers. All superintendents of provincial correctional facilities and probation/parole area managers report to the regional managers for their region.

The probation/parole offices in each region provide services for all young offenders who are 16 or 17 years of age and for all adults aged 18 years or over who have been placed under probation supervision by the courts. Staff in these offices also provide supervision for all inmates released from provincial institutions under the authority of the Board of Parole. Probation and parole officers may also be responsible for the supervision of incarcerates released on temporary absence or serving intermittent sentences.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

The jails in Prince Edward Island accept remand and sentenced adult prisoners, both male and female, of the age 18 and over, regardless of the offense. They also act as lock-ups for all police forces in the Province. Females are seldom committed to custody.

In addition, the Department of Justice is now responsible for young offenders aged 12 to 17. There are no institutions for young offenders within the Province. Those requiring short term detention are held separate and apart in designated areas of the adult jails. Those committed to longer term detention after court proceedings are housed in institutions in the provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

ORGANIZATION AND ADMINISTRATION

Adult correctional services are the responsibility of the Department of Sollicitor General.

Probation Service supervises defendants subject to conditions imposed by the court and prepares pre-sentence investigations for the court. In addition, it prepares pre-release reports and supervises paroles released by the Provincial Parole Board which was created in 1979.

Probation Service implemented a Community Service Programme in all the judicial districts and is responsible for its administration. The primary objective of the programme is to provide a court and to those who appear before it a substitute for prison sentences in cases where the public interest is not endangered.

Juvenile services are the responsibility of the Department of Social Affairs.

CODE OF ETHICS

The American Correctional Association expects of its members unfailing honesty, respect for the dignity and individuality of human beings, and a commitment to professional and compassionate service. To this end we subscribe to the following principles.

Relationships with clients/colleagues/other professions/the public—

- Members will respect and protect the civil and legal rights of all clients.
- Members will serve each case with appropriate concern for the client's welfare and with no purpose of personal gain.
- Relationships with colleagues will be of such character to promote mutual respect within the profession and improvement of its quality of service.
- Statements critical of colleagues or their agencies will be made only as these are verifiable and constructive in purpose.
- Members will respect the importance of all elements of the criminal justice system and cultivate a professional cooperation with each segment.
- Subject to the client's rights of privacy, members will respect the public's right to know, and will share information with the public with openness and candor.
- Members will respect and protect the right of the public to be safeguarded from criminal activity.

Professional conduct/practices—

- No member will use his or her official position to secure special privileges or advantages.
- No member, while acting in an official capacity, will allow personal interest to impair objectivity in the performance of duty.
- No member will use his or her official position to promote any partisan political purposes.
- No member will accept any gift or favor of such nature to imply an obligation that is inconsistent with the free and objective exercise of professional responsibilities.
- In any public statement, members will clearly distinguish between those that are personal views and those that are statements and positions on behalf of an agency.
- Members will be diligent in their responsibility to record and make available for review any and all case information which could contribute to sound decisions affecting a client or the public safety.
- Each member will report, without reservation, any corrupt or unethical behavior which could affect either a client or the integrity of the organization.
- Members will not discriminate against any client, employee, or prospective employee on the basis of race, sex, creed, or national origin.
- Members will maintain the integrity of private information; they will neither seek personal data beyond that needed to perform their responsibilities, nor reveal case information to anyone not having proper professional use for such.
- Any member who is responsible for agency personnel actions will make all appointments, promotions, or dismissals only on the basis of merit and not in furtherance of partisan political interests.

AMERICAN CORRECTIONAL ASSOCIATION

DIVISION OF STANDARDS AND ACCREDITATION

COMMISSION ON ACCREDITATION FOR CORRECTIONS

The Association develops and publishes standards for thirteen correctional areas. These standards are used by the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections as a basis for making accreditation decisions.

Over 650 correctional facilities and programs are involved in accreditation, a process which began in 1978. Included are programs and facilities operated by the Federal Prison System, the U.S. Parole Commission, and the District of Columbia.

For these agencies, the accreditation program offers the opportunity to evaluate their operations against national standards and to remedy deficiencies and upgrade the quality of correctional services. The recognized benefits from such a process include improved management, a proven defense against lawsuits through documentation and the demonstration of a "good faith" effort to improve conditions of confinement, increased accountability and enhanced public credibility for administrative and line staff, a safer and more humane environment for personnel and offenders, and the establishment of measurable criteria for upgrading programs, personnel and physical plants on a continuous basis.

Throughout the pages of this directory, state and federal accredited institutions and programs have been recognized by a star (*) next to their names, although not all of them are listed as part of this directory. A complete list of accredited agencies is available upon request.

DEPARTMENT OF TRAINING

The American Correctional Association's Department of Training offers training to meet the needs of our membership through nationally advertised and on-site training programs. We are pleased to offer correspondence courses for the correctional field.

On-Site Workshops

The Association conducts on-site training programs. These programs are designed to be delivered on-site for state and local departments of correction at a greatly reduced rate. The sponsor of an on-site training workshop provides a training site and a minimum number of participants. By using the on-site training model, departments of correction save travel and per diem costs for participants and gain the ability to train a large number of people.

A wide variety of programs will be offered in 1987-88.

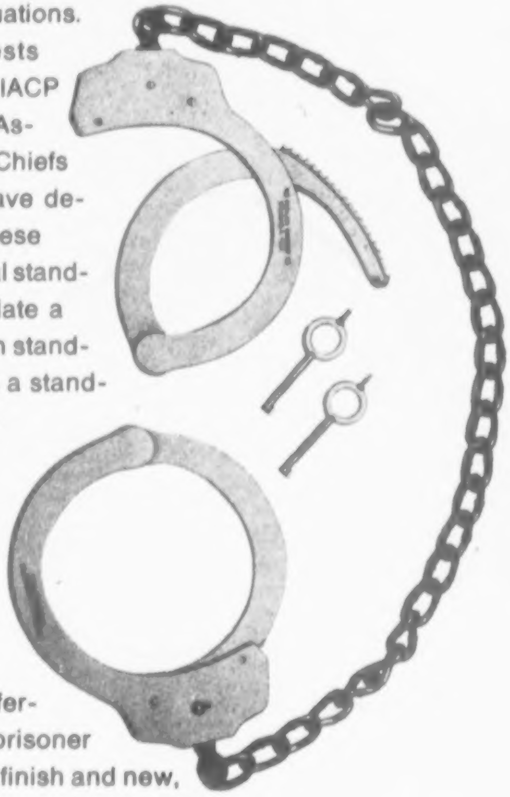
PEERLESS RESTRAINING DEVICES

New Hinged Handcuffs These patented handcuffs are the ultimate in restraint and provide maximum safety to the restraining officer. New hinge design prevents prisoners from using muscles and tendons to tamper with locking mechanism. When handcuffed properly, prisoners are unable to escape, even with key in hand. Hinged Handcuffs, permit cuffing in a cross arm position, preventing "stepping" through to bring hands from back to front. Particularly effective in transporting prisoners and in high security risk situations. Independent tests approved by the IACP (International Association of Chiefs of Police) have determined that these handcuffs exceed Federal standards. Can accommodate a 25% larger wrist than standard cuffs and uses a standard handcuff key.



Leg Irons

Peerless leg irons are adjustable shackles built for years of service. They are made to the same rigid specifications as U.S. government approved Peerless handcuffs. They have 19 positive locking positions to a 10" circumference and a strong 15" chain to prevent the prisoner from running. All steel construction with nickle finish and new, improved double lock. Two standard handcuff keys are furnished.

The Case of the Overcrowded Prison:

It was a dark and desperate hour.

"Thirty new commitments are on the way, and we need space fast," the tough administrator demanded. The boys from the governor's office scowled. While the correctional officers stood watch, the restless men clamored.

Then the guy from Gelco Space stepped boldly to the fore. "More space in less time for less money with our mobile and modular units," he promised. "Dormitories, kitchens, standard or custom designs. Even an entire prison. Whatever you need. And you can buy, rent, or lease at any of the more than 80 sales and service locations."

"Simple addition," the astonished group concluded as a ray of sunlight pierced through the walls. One shout rang out: "Reach for the phone. Call Gelco Space, 1-800-523-7918."
